Ron Gaudion's Trip Down Memory Lane

Ron Gaudion Sitting on No. 15 Which Came in Second

The 1957 24 Heures du Mans was the 25th running of the 24 Hours of Le Mans, Grand Prix of Endurance, and took place on 22 and 23 June 1957, on the Circuit de la Sarthe. The prospect of an exciting duel between Ferrari, Maserati, Jaguar, Aston Martin and Porsche was enough to draw large crowds to the 24 Hours race, now back at its usual date and reintegrated into the World Championship. Some 250,000 spectators had gathered for Europe's classic sports car race, around an 8.38-mile course. Against very strong competition from Ferrari, Maserati and Aston Martin all "Works Teams" Jaguars started and finished the most gruelling race of 24 hours, beating all before them and coming 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th & 6th. Never before had a single nation sweep the board so completely as Britain did in 1957. The great success of the D Type Jaguars became all the more significant when it is considered that all of the cars were privately entered (albeit with some factory support), and matched against the works entries of some of the greatest sport car manufacturers. This year marks the 60th anniversary of this great race and is being celebrated in the UK by a series of events organised by the Jaguar Company.

Our Club Patron Ron Gaudion, working for the Ecurie Ecosse team during the 1950s helped build the D Types and supported No. 15 driven by Ninian Sanderson and John Lawrence during the race. It came in second behind No. 3 driven by Ron Flockhart and Ivor Bueb. As the sole surviving member of the "Works Teams" who prepared the cars for the race, he and May have been invited as special guests for the celebrations. From Ron's understanding the following events are planned:

The celebrations will begin with a 60-Year re-enactment of the victory at Le Mans, where the five D Types from that race will be flagged off by the Lord Mayor of Coventry at the new Jaguar Land Rover Classic Works facility and proceed with police escort to Hampton Court Palace where they will join the annual Concour of 70 Exotic Cars. On the way they will make stops at Silverstone and the home of the Panasonic Jaguar Racing Formula E team. After they leave the Concour display they will attend a formal black tie dinner which will include a celebration of the event and presentations.

The next day there will be a trip out to the Brooklands racetrack which will include press interviews and TV coverage followed by a visit to the Williams Formula 1 workshops. The next day will be another formal luncheon at the Royal Auto Club (RAC) in London which will include a Question & Answer time from journalists. Ron and May will then continue on their tour with a three day visit to the Goodwood Revival meeting where the D Types are expected and will parade for 2 or 3 laps. Also planned during the following days, besides additional press conferences and TV appearances will be a pub lunch in Coventry for retired mechanics from the Jaguar Car Company of the 1950s and 1960s, some of whom Ron may have worked with during his years in the UK. It is great to see Ron has been honoured for his contribution to the success of Jaguar sports racing and we wish him well.
